Goblins Play

Hallow'en Spirits Make Eerie Sight As They Flit To and Fro

Last night the University campus was the scene of many strange activities as goblins and spirits roamed the green sward in honor of their annual freedom. Persons who were up late heard eerie noises and saw vague shadows flitting from place to place. One student surprised a group of shadows carrying a wooden gate, but made no investigation, thinking they were freshmen getting ready for a bonfire or a pep meeting.

But do not be alarmed. University authorities have promised that these nefarious activities will be discontinued until next year. According to an announcement made last night to The Kernel by President McVey, the spirits were merely celebrating Hallow'en, and did not mean to disturb the usual serenity of the campus. He said that one of the nocturnal visitors came to his study and requested that all students and faculty members refrain from calling the police so that the spirit of play might go on uninterrupted until the wee hours of morning.

More power to Hallow'en!

WALLIS SPEAKER AT CONVOCATION

Former U. S. Commissioner of Immigration Describes Conditions at Ellis Island

PRES. McVEY PRESIDES

The first general Convocation of the semester was held Tuesday at nine o'clock in Memorial hall with President Frank L. McVey presiding. The Reverend A. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Porter Memorial church, opened the session with a prayer; Dr. McVey introduced the two guests of honor: Reverend Campbell Morgan of London, possessor of a world-wide reputation in the pulpit; and Doctor Frost, former president of Berea College, and an outstanding promoter of education in Kentucky. The speaker was Mr. Frederick Alfred Wallis, who served as United States Commissioner of Immigration under the late President Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Wallis spoke of the immigration question as he had experienced it, setting forth his ideas on how the situation could be remedied. In his estimation the problem is not immigration but the immigrant, that is to say, not the question of quantity but of quality.

He pointed out, that in trying to raise these peoples' standards, we must not let them lower ours. Mr. Wallis said the general tendency was to look down on a foreigner, in spite of the fact that we all proudly trace our ancestry back to the European continent.

The speaker vividly pictured Ellis Island: the kissing post, where immigrants, who had passed their examinations waited to be met by relatives or friends; the S. I. room, where those who had been refused entrance waited to bring their cases before the Board of Special Inquiry; and the last room where all the deferred and rejected sat huddled together, some moaning quietly, others hysterical.

In connection with the pledging a smoker was held in Dicker Hall Tuesday night which was open to the students in the College of Commerce.

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" Displays Brilliant Construction and Dialogue

BOYD ADDRESSES FACULTY MEET

Department Heads Asked to Submit Statement of Purposes and Aid Student Classification Check.

At a meeting of the faculty of the Arts and Sciences College, held in McVey hall at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, Professor Dantzer, representing the language division, and Doctor Tutthill, representing the social science division, read statements of the aims of these divisions in carrying out their work at the University. Dean Boyd presided at the meeting, and took part in the various discussions. Fifty-one members of the faculty were present.

According to Dean Boyd, the heads of the five divisions of the Arts and Sciences College have been asked to submit statements from their respective departments setting forth the purposes of these departments and the work which they are striving to perform. The statements by Professor Dantzer and Doctor Tutthill are the first to be submitted.

The combined grouping will be made public when completed. Dean Boyd asked that heads of departments prepare schedules of their courses based upon the quarter system, in order that a check may be made to determine the changes which would be necessary, and whether the plan would result in increased or decreased cost.

A discussion of the quarter system followed Dean Boyd's request. Dean Boyd has sent questionnaires to colleges which have been working on the quarter plan, hoping to get information concerning comparative cost of this system.

Another request made by Dean Boyd was concerning a checkup of students to see that they are enrolled in proper courses. Dean Boyd asked all members of the faculty to make this check as soon as possible. Many mistakes have already been discovered, he stated.

Discussion Groups Sponsored By "Y" Approved By McVey

"How Honest Shall We Be" is the first subject to be considered by discussion groups that are being organized by the Y. M. C. A. this week. The purpose of these groups is to consider the most important moral, religious, and social problems that confront the students at the University.

According to Bart N. Peak, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., the University has sponsored similar discussion groups for the last nine years. Last year there were over 500 students enrolled in these groups, and the weekly attendance averaged 400 for eight weeks.

President McVey expressed his approval of the organizations in the following statement: "It is a good thing for a group to get together to study and discuss some interesting problem. It is particularly worthwhile when such a group takes up religious and social problems. The proposal to organize such groups in fraternities, sororities, residence halls, and rooming houses should be taken up enthusiastically by every group in the University. Through the winter such study could go on with profit to everybody in the groups. I am greatly in favor of it and would be rejoiced to see the plan followed out with much earnestness."

W. A. A. Council Plans For Winter Sports

The Women's Athletic Association Council held its bi-monthly meeting at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, at the women's gymnasium. Plans were made for the development of the various tribes.

A drive for new girls for W. A. A. is now on. All who are interested may see Miss Averill in her office in the women's gymnasium.

BY THOMAS L. RILEY

An almost plotless English farce is "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," by St. John Ervine, the first production of the Guignol theater this season which opened Monday night. Typically British in its construction and dialogue it is indeed a refreshing and brilliant piece of work and is presented with an almost perfect cast through the medium of adroit direction on the part of Frank Fowler.

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" has practically no story to speak of. It tells of the visit of an actress to the well ordered country home of a sedate family and the resultant effects on an adolescent youth, who aspires to write a poetic drama, and his middle aged uncle. The situations are so ludicrous in composition that the audience allows itself to forget intelligence and laugh heartily.

Of the individual performances our selections are R. D. McIntyre, in the role of Sir Henry Considine, Mrs. J. M. Durbin, as Mary Westlake, the actress, and Robert Thompson in the capacity of her business manager, Hobbs by name. Miss Mary Sidney Hobson is cast as Sheila, niece of Sir Henry, and is satisfactory in her portrayal.

Mrs. Helen Colley Krake has the role of Mrs. Considine, mother of Geoffrey, played by Russell Duncan. Mrs. Krake is quite convincing in her performance but the audience was allowed too many views of the back of Duncan's head for him to be very heavily. Claude Walker is cast as the Rev. Canon Peter Considine, vicar of Hinton St. Mary, and is to be complimented on his aged bearing although his voice at times betrays his years. Miss Marguerite McLaughlin appears as Miss Mimms, strong supporter and leader of the Girl Guides, a sort of Girl Scout affair, and is also an ardent church worker. Miss McLaughlin's part is somewhat limited but she is excellent in the few scenes allotted her. Evelyn Gall is seen as a maid while E. J. Canaday is cast as Mr. Beeby, a playwright.

The stage setting was designed by Claude Walker and is a credit to his name and that of the Guignol. The lighting is perfect and the costuming and other incidentals of the players' craft are well executed.

Although the entire cast is well selected and handled it is the efforts of R. D. McIntyre, Mrs. J. M. Durbin and Robert Thompson and occasional good work from Miss Mary Sidney Hobson that characterize "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" as being a thoroughly enjoyable presentation at the Guignol theater.

DOCTOR MILLER DIES SUDDENLY

Noted Scientist and Former Arts and Science Dean Is Taken By Death While Traveling to Orlando, Fla.

Dr. Arthur M. Miller, professor emeritus of geology and former dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University, died suddenly Monday enroute from his home at Asheville, N. C. to Orlando, Fla. Professors A. C. McFarlan and F. T. McFarlan, heads of the department of geology and botany, respectively, attended the funeral Thursday at Eaton, Ohio, as representatives of the University.

Dr. Miller attended Wooster University, Ohio, but received his bachelor's degree at Princeton University in 1884. In 1887 he received the degree of master of arts from Princeton and the following year served as an instructor in the department of biology at that University. In 1889 he became professor of natural history in Wilson College for Women at Chambersburg, Penn. He later resigned this position to accept work as geologist for the Federal Oil Company.

He returned to the University in 1918 as head of the department of geology, and was retired as professor emeritus June 30, 1925. Dr. Miller was the author of many geological publications and was recognized as an authority on the subject of the geology of petroleum in Kentucky. He donated the tract known as Maxwellton park to the University. He is survived by one brother, M. M. Miller, of Lexington.

This collection includes forty paintings by such representative artists as Lucien Powell, nationally famous for many years; Dr. William H. Holmes, director of the National Gallery of Art; and Benson Moore, who has won international recognition for his etchings.

These paintings have for their subject the landscapes of picturesque sections of Maryland, Virginia, and other eastern states, and are interesting from a historical as well as aesthetic point of view.

The Landscape Club was organized in Washington in 1913 and today includes many prominent artists of Washington and vicinity. Each year the club sends exhibits to the south and west which meet with much favor. This exhibit will come direct to the University after a showing at Berea College.

TIGERS' ADVANCE PROVES MENACE FOR BIG BLUE

Blood-Thirsty Bengals May Be Stumbling Block For Kentucky

SOUTH CAROLINIANS HAVE SCORING TEAM

"Shipwreck" Kelly Is in Shape For Wildcats' Fifth Gridiron Trial

By LAURENCE SHROPSHIRE

The Stoll field prairie is a far cry from the jungles of South Carolina, but to that Kentucky stronghold, Coach Josh Cody is leading his fighting band of Clemson Tigers. The Bengals, licking their chops in greedy anticipation of another appetizing conference game, will challenge the sturdy Wildcats of Coach Harry Gamage at 2:30 o'clock Saturday.

With measured and steady tread the Tigers approach, casting before them a sinister threat, the most serious menace to championship aspirations that the Kentuckians have been called upon to face this season. A strange, foreboding pall hangs dimly over the scene of the combat. The plucky Wildcats, their backs to the wall, but strengthened by confidence in the security of their own lair, silently await the invaders. The Clemson Cats bring with them a formidable and forbidding reputation. Already this season they have gorged themselves with the choice morsels of six football teams, crushing their prey under top-heavy scores and piling up a record of the highest scoring team in the South. Occupying the pinnacle of the Southern conference heap in the company of mighty Tennessee, the Tigers, their fierce eyes gleam with the lust of a championship feast, snarl evilly at the scent of the dangerous little Wildcats.

On the other hand, the defending felines, blood-smearred from their own wounds, and the torn carcasses of four vanquished foes, sharpen teeth and claws in preparation for an all-important struggle. The winner of this fracas will continue to stalk through the tangled conference undergrowth with any and all beasts purporting to be ruler of the jungland and southern chomp. Clemson is sending from its native (Continued on page eight.)

The SuKy Circle has promised to raise the funds for the trip by selling candy, peanuts, etc., at games. Approximately half of the sum required has already been raised and turned over to the band.

THE PEP CLUB AND CHEER LEADERS

The recent editorial campaign of The Kernel for better cheer leaders at the University has raised a furor of discussion among students, and particularly among members of SuKy Circle, the organization which selects the boys who lead cheering at football games and other athletic functions.

Owing to the necessity of adequate cheer leaders to promote proper enthusiasm toward the team, The Kernel has waged a veritable war of editorial comment on the subject. However, it has not done this merely because the editors think the cheer leaders do not conform to the standards required of them.

The Kernel has been conducting an investigation as to the attitude of the students on this subject, with the result that more than seventy per cent of those questioned have said that they are of the opinion that the cheer leaders selected by SuKy are not the best that might have been selected, and that they are incapable of developing into good leaders. Hence the editorial comment.

Now, a member of the Circle has become aroused by reflections cast upon his ability to select cheer leaders. As proof of this the editor has received a letter from Frank Davidson, president of SuKy, in which President Davidson sets forth his views upon the subject. In order to show his attitude, a few excerpts from his letter are given here, and they will be those pertinent to this editorial.

One paragraph of the letter contains this amazing statement: "The SuKy Circle has sponsored, among other things, the pep meetings of the University, ever since the Circle has been organized. Owing to its standing and purpose on the campus, it has always felt itself competent to select cheer leaders."

That statement was made in reference to an editorial which mildly suggested a way in which cheer leaders might be selected in the future. It intimates that President Davidson feels that he needs no suggestions concerning the matter under discussion; that he knows best what plans to follow; and that his plans are the plans that will be followed, student opinion to the contrary.

Another paragraph states: "The Kernel editorial concerning swearing on the part of one of the cheer leaders was wholly in keeping with the interests of the school, and the Circle, and the athletic department remedied the cause at once." The question naturally arises, why did the athletic department have to censor the conduct of the cheer leaders? It seems that a department in no way connected with selecting cheer leaders had to step in and do the work which Mr. Davidson should have remedied in person in his representative capacity as president of SuKy, more especially since he feels himself competent to handle the cheer leader situation without assistance or suggestion. It should cause no worry to the athletic department, which is concerned with the scheduling of games and the promotion of athletics at the University.

Finally, Mr. Davidson laments the editorial policy of The Kernel as follows: "If The Kernel would discontinue to knock the cheer leaders, and give them the support that they deserve, the SuKy Circle, and many members of the student body would believe that The Kernel was meant to be an encouraging factor to loyal students, who are giving their best to the school."

That statement is stretching the point a bit far. The Kernel is an encouraging factor to loyal students. The investigation mentioned above was made for the sole purpose of determining just what students generally think of the situation, so that The Kernel might express their opinion.

Loyal students are of the opinion that the team deserves all the support that the student body is capable of giving, but those same students contend that they cannot give it through the medium of the cheer leaders because the leaders cannot "put it over." Students have tried to follow cheers, but find themselves unable to do. At the Centre game many were anxious to cheer, but were forced to sit and listen to the cheer leaders argue and quarrel with them, with the result that the team started playing before the cheering began.

Let it be understood that The Kernel is not knocking the cheer leaders as a result of any personal attitude. Its editorial comment concerns only promotion of better spirit toward the team through the medium of such capable cheer leading as the players deserve.

SuKy announced to The Kernel last week that it would organize a pep club this week for the purpose of working up pep for the Clemson game and subsequent Wildcat athletic engagements this year. The members of the club will sit together at the game and will do all that they can to promote enthusiasm for the team.

SuKy is to be commended for this forward step. It is an original idea at the University and one that should go far toward binding together the entire student body in a spirit of loyalty. The Kernel is fully in accord with such movements and will do all that is in its power to promote the interests of the pep club.

Now, a word to the student body seems to be fitting in view of conditions prevalent at this time. There is little doubt that the boys and girls at this school have failed to show the proper degree of pep and enthusiasm toward the team; and in so failing the students have visited failure upon the cheer leaders in the sense that they have been expecting too much from the leaders, who are willing to do the best they can under their limitations.

Therefore, students, get from under that smug attitude which connotes that you don't care what happens so long as you can sit back in comfort while others work for you. If you remain passive, failure is going to come to the team, perhaps this Saturday, when Clemson's red menace comes romping from the southland with the highest scoring team in the Southern Conference.

When the whistle is blown, the Wildcats will have on hand a battle which will make the Washington and Lee game seem a practice session. With proper support, the Blue and White can keep a clean record through five straight games. Otherwise the sting of defeat may pierce the consciences of those who love to do nothing but watch the game.

A TRIBUTE TO "DADDY" BOLES

The eyes of the students and of the people at large have been opened this fall to many improvements in connection with football games played on Stoll field. The most progressive of these include the erection of flood lights, the use of amplifiers on the field and the radio broadcast of the Washington and Lee game.

A notable step was made with the erection of the twenty powerful flood lights along the rim of the stadium. With the aid of these lights the University can now schedule night games, which are gaining in popularity in the larger universities throughout the country. Many people, who because of various reasons could not attend a game during the afternoon, are thus enabled to witness the Wildcats' games. Another feature of the flood lights is the additional practice hours which the Big Blue can use to good advantage.

Many favorable comments were heard at the W. and L. game in regard to the use of the public address amplifiers. The announcement of plays, players, and substitutions was a great help to the spectators; especially those who did not know the individual players or were not close enough to readily identify them. Perhaps the greatest aid was realized in the requests for quiet when the teams were calling signals.

To "Daddy" Boles, now full-time Athletic Director of the University, goes most of the credit for these great improvements. The Kernel rejoices with the student body that we have such a man at the helm of Kentucky's athletic department, for he'll certainly put Kentucky "on the map"—athletically speaking.

DR. A. M. MILLER

Students and Alumni of the University were grieved to learn of the death of Dr. A. M. Miller, professor emeritus of the University.

Doctor Miller was recognized as an authority on geology and petroleum in Kentucky, and at the time of his death was working on a geological map of North Carolina. The unfinished manuscript was sent to the University. He became a member of the University staff in 1892, and remained on the staff with the exception of one year until 1925, when he was retired.

Noted for his scientific research and knowledge of the formation of the earth, and kindred subjects, Doctor Miller will always be remembered for his intellectual influence upon the University, and for financial aid which he supplied to many students who attended the University.

A bill has been introduced in the Nebraska legislature prohibiting a student at the state university from joining a fraternity until he has spent a year at the school. It would take a measure of this sort to stop rushing at Kentucky. And how!

A student representative at the University of North Carolina endeavored to pass a bill allowing one college credit for each letter in sport. Sometimes the athletes need extra credits.

WILL DRINKING CONTINUE?

Last year at the beginning of the University session, officials and students were confronted with the question "Shall Drinking Continue?" There was only one course for the University authorities to follow and that plan was adopted when all University dances and social functions before Thanksgiving were curtailed.

Students interested in regaining for themselves the right to hold dances took the situation in hand and formed a concerted drive against drinking at the University. Led by The Kernel, Scabbard and Blade, Omicron Delta Kappa, and supervised directly by the Men's Student Council, the whole situation came to a head when The Kernel on December 1, 1928, in a special edition carried the following resolution of the Men's Student Council:

WHEREAS: The constant infraction of the United States Prohibition act by a minority is encroaching upon the social rights of the majority and endangering the future of the reputation of the University and the provision for social life of the students, and

WHEREAS: The Men's Student Council was granted by the Constitution ratified by the University Senate, the power of punishing the infringement on good conduct by students; the said Council now deems itself obliged to the well-mannered majority to exert that authority in the management of University functions:

BE IT RESOLVED: By the power granted to the Men's Student Council by its constitution that it does hereby ordain and establish a court composed of members of the said Council, and for the purpose of administering the punishments of reprimand, suspension, or expulsion from the University, of any student under the influence of intoxicating liquors at any University of Kentucky function. Appeal from the court shall be only to the University Senate.

AND: This resolution shall be published in the student newspaper and shall serve as notice and warning to all above mentioned offenders.

MEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL,
Upon the strength of this promise of faith, of a representative branch of the student body, dances were permitted upon the campus once more. Of course there were offenders, but those men who could not obey the law were effectively punished by the Student Council.

With the beginning of the session this year the Student Council retains power to prohibit drinking at University dances. The Student Council remains ready to enforce its sentence of expulsion upon students who persist in disregarding the law.

Up to the present the Council has not been forced to take any action in regard to campus drinking. At the SuKy dance held after the Washington and Lee game, it has been intimated that there was some drinking. This regrettable fact leads The Kernel to issue this word of warning to students who are apt to imbibe liquor too generously. There is a punishment for this infringement of the University laws, and it is the duty of the Men's Student Council to minimize drinking at the University by imposing the punishment.

STUDENT TICKETS

There recently have been many abuses of student athletic books at football games. Students upon accepting the books, signed a pledge that they would neither loan nor transfer them. This pledge has been violated at virtually all games this season, especially at the more important encounters.

The Kernel feels that abuse of these books by students is due to thoughtlessness and a lack of thorough understanding of the pledge which they have signed. Not only is it a breach of faith on the part of the student, but it amounts to an attempt to cheat his own University out of the price of the ticket. The price of every ticket, that is turned in at the gates, must be divided with opposing teams.

It is hoped that this abuse of ticket books will not be repeated and that students will cooperate with the University Athletic Council in the proper use of this privilege.

Following the editorial instigation by the Kernel, a plan to transfer student tickets for reserve seat tickets has been adopted by the Athletic Council. "Daddy" Boles has announced that students may transfer their student tickets for a reserve seat for $1.50, when they purchase another reserve seat ticket.

The Kernel approves this plan and feels sure that the students will appreciate the efforts of the Athletic Council to solve the seating problem which has confronted it.

LETTERS FOR THE RIFLE TEAM

Several campus organizations are backing a movement to give varsity letters to members of the rifle team. It seems logical that teams representing the University and making reputation for the University should have such recognition.

Only members of the R. O. T. C. are eligible to become members of the rifle team and this is one of the arguments against giving letters for this sport. But such activity brings honor to the University military department and for a University to rate high in this activity is to give it a good standing in the eyes of the War Department, which in turn invites wider recognition in other branches.

A letter is an incentive for a competitor in any sport to do his best. To become an expert in firing the rifle requires many hours of hard practice. To have nothing in sport to look forward to, except to become proficient in that sport, is limited incentive to get the best out of that sport.

Kentucky has won the cup for the best rifle team in the Fifth Corps area two years and one more win will make that cup a permanent possession of the University. It is our belief that members of the team should have recognition on the campus, thus making it possible to get the best that can be had from a rifle team and win national recognition in a minor sport at the same time.

Wendell Mench attended classes at Northwestern University 16 years before he received his degree. Believe it or not.

Dr. E. Vernon Hill Speaks to Student Engineers Assembly

Dr. E. Vernon Hill, of Chicago, spoke to the engineering students at their regular assembly the third hour Wednesday, October 29. His topic was "Popular Health Fallacies."

Doctor Hill, altho he received his professional training in the field of medicine, now takes a primary interest in a topic under the engineering category, "Aerology or Air Conditioning." His publication, "The Aerologist," is to aerology as Hoyle's work is to bridge, for he is considered by co-workers to be one of the prominent, if not the outstanding, authority in his field.

In his talk, Doctor Hill made certain factual statements which serve to destroy some popularly accepted fallacies in regard to the effect of atmospheric conditions on health. He also presented theories of his own upon which he is now working. Doctor Hill's address was one of a series now being offered to the Engineers by professional men. The students of the other colleges in the University are invited to be the guests of the Engineers at these regular assemblies.

Key Town selling—a new telephone idea

Commercial development men of the Bell System have originated a new use of the telephone which is proving economical and efficient for modern salesmanship. From important central towns the salesman makes periodic visits to customers and prospects by telephone.

To conceive this idea, to make it practical by selecting Key Towns on a basis of most advantageous rates to surrounding points, and to sell it as a business practice—all this illustrates how telephone service is as open as any commodity to constructive imagination.

Key Town selling is one of many indications of the steady demand, present and to come, for more and more telephone service.

A play at Pepsy—To the city Saturday afternoon for rials roaming but could find no one to accompany me due to a neighboring football encounter. To several theaters only to find the managers out. Then to the Opera House to see "Ken" Cartier and found him very busy with sundry duties. Wandered around backstage and enjoyed a short talk with Gunard Hjertstedt. He probably didn't know or care who I was, which rather amused me. As soon as I began to be in the way of people I left. Up Main street past the ten-cent stores and was attracted by a boy in one of the windows demonstrating the intricacies of Yo-Yo to a gaping crowd of rustics. Evidence of good business at all the movie houses. To the Kentucky theater for "The Hottentot" and the house was full of children. Picture terrible. So to my dwelling place.

—TLR—

One of the biggest jokes in the history of this state is in the announcement of Clara Bow's appointment as a colonel on the staff of Governor Sampson. Now where is the time-honored custom of Kentucky? No doubt several tombstones were severely rocked.

—TLR—

"The Cockeyed World" opens at the Strand Sunday for a week's run and of course you will see it. This Fox Movietone all-talking picture has received a great blast of publicity by breaking the world's money record and I must admit that it is some achievement. This is a sort of sequel to "What Price Glory," being authored by the same men and acted by the identical pair, Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, that appeared in the first ribald slant at war. "The Cockeyed World" tells of Sergeant Quirt and Captain Flagg in the Marine Corps and Lily Darnita is in the cast for plenty of reasons. Raoul Walsh, who made "What Price Glory," also directs this so-called "laugh riot," and I suppose he has done a good job. With that title, a story by Lawrence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson, the cast and the direction "The Cockeyed World" has every opportunity in its favor. Its humor is chiefly of the bawdy type which adds to its power at the box office.

—TLR—

My heartiest congratulations are extended to Frank Fowler and the Guignol theater staff on their initial offering of the season. Although I was denied the pleasure of attending the opening night (the first I have missed in years) I am thankful that I got to see "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" in time to express my opinion of the production. The Guignol has done a very fine piece of work, and those of us who appreciate a good stage play are doubly grateful.

—TLR—

The Alney Alba Players open Monday night with "Kick In," billed as the world's greatest crook play, and all I can say is that if former standards are upheld you are assured of getting a good show. "Kick In" is authored by Willard Mack, whose name is known and respected throughout the theatrical world. Perhaps you are familiar with the talking movie, "The Voice of the City," which he wrote. He also adapted "Madame X" and "His Glorious Night" to the audible screen. "Kick In" tells of two youths who have lived outside the criminal law and who try to fight their way back into society. I hope Francis Sayles has a good role. You had better see "Kick In." I recommend it on the strength of the playwright and the superior merit of the Alney Alba Players.

—TLR—

Much favorable comment has been heard on Will Rogers' first talking picture seen at the Strand this week. From Fox studios comes the announcement that his next will be called "By the Way, Bill."

and that it will be directed by William K. Howard.

—TLR—

Everyone has heard the phonograph records made by Moran and Mack, "The Two Black Crows," and now their first talking picture, called "Why Bring That Up?" opens at the Kentucky theater Sunday. This Paramount picture tells a story of backstage life and is said to be quite authentic in detail. Needless to say, it is highly amusing, as those boys have a showmanship ability that has been proved time and again. A friend of mine has known Moran for a number of years and he tells me that the picture in many respects resembles his life story. You know all that stuff about the worm and the horses, et cetera, et cetera, so you will want to see "Why Bring That Up?" I am sure that I do.

—TLR—

They tell me that Willard Mack and "Ken" Cartier of the Alney Alba Players are good buddies. Mack is the author of "Kick In," next week's offering of Lexington's stock company. It is said that Mack told Cartier that "Kick In" is the best play he will ever write. All of which sounds encouraging for the next attraction at the Opera House.

—TLR—

One of the greatest stage stars of our day is Lenore Ulric and her first talking picture, "Frozen Justice," will open at the Ben Ali Sunday. This is a William Fox picture directed by Allan Dwan and has a remarkable cast including Robert Frazer, Louis Wolheim, Ulrich Haupt, and many other well known personages. "Frozen Justice" is rather sordid in its plot. Perhaps too much so for the average American audience, but it should be seen for nothing more than the star's reputation as one of our really great actresses.

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS
"The Four Devils," Fox picture, Strand. Directed by F. W. Murnau with Janet Gaynor and a good cast. Somewhat overdone.

"If I Was Rich," Opera House. An entertaining vehicle for the Alney Alba Players. Francis Sayles is great.

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," Guignol Theater. A sparkling English comedy done to perfection.

"The Awful Truth," Pathe picture, Ben Ali. With Ina Claire. A highly dramatic piece that is wobbly in spots.

EVANS ATTENDS MEETING OF THE AMERICAN BAR

Dean Alvin E. Evans returned from Memphis, Tenn., last Thursday, where he attended the annual session of the American Bar Association.

The representatives of the night law schools attempted to break down the present requirements of the day schools, claiming that the present requirements deprived the poor boy of the opportunity of obtaining a legal education. They also contended that requirements now demanded were obtained by a packed assembly and were passed in a fraudulent manner. The day schools were branded as aristocratic.

Dean Evans said that this was probably the best attended meeting of the session. Ten speakers presented the case of the night schools to an assembly of a thousand members who voted twenty to one to maintain the present requirements.

The section of criminal law made a report on psychiatric jurisprudence. It recommended that every court have available a psychiatric report upon the criminal and that no one be convicted of a felony until such report had been filed.

President Nichols, of California, made an address to the Association in which he excoriated the lawlessness of this modern era.

Law College Gets California Volumes

Books Contain All Laws of Western State, Including Community Property

The Law College has just obtained 49 volumes which constitute the complete statutes of California. These volumes include all of the laws passed since California first became a state.

One of the features of the California Laws is the community property system, according to Dean Evans. California is one of the eight western states which have this system incorporated in their statutes.

The community system comes down from the laws of Spain and was instituted into the Mexican legal system. While California was a part of Mexico, the community system was a part of its common law and when it became a state it made it a part of the statute law.

This system is concerned with the property and property rights of the spouse. In Kentucky, when the husband acquires property it belongs to him, and the wife has no titular interest in it, but under the community system the property belongs to both the husband and the wife.

STOLL FIELD—The story has been told and re-told, but in case there are freshmen who read neither the Lexington papers nor the Associated Press reports, here it is again.

History and a perfect gridiron combine to give Stoll Field, home playground of the University of Kentucky Wildcats, a unique position among college athletic fields. While the Wildcats now call this historic plot of ground their own, it was not a University of Kentucky team which first used the field for football. Nearly 50 years ago, April 9, 1880, to be exact, Transylvania College and Centre College met on Stoll Field, then known as City Park, in the first game of intercollegiate football ever played in the south. It was possibly the first game ever played west of the Allegheny mountains and followed by only a few years the first game ever played in this country. Transylvania won this first game, which was played according to Princeton rules.

The Lexington Transcript of April 10, 1880, in commenting on the game, says: "A large crowd of ladies and gentlemen, estimated at 500, witnessed the game. It was pronounced football had decidedly the advantage of baseball as a means of amusement for spectators."

THIS IS TERRIBLE!—Everybody, from Will Rogers to President Charles J. Turck, is up in arms at the report of the Carnegie Foundation on the paid athletes in the colleges of the country. The situation is deplorable! Something ought to be done about it! At least let's have some resolutions passed by somebody. Believe it or not athletic students actually have been given jobs so they could work their way through school; some have been encouraged to study by the offer of scholarships; and some have even been invited to attend certain universities.

I cast my lot with station CBJ and sanction the following suggestions for remedy of the professionalism problem:

1. Refuse accredited university or college admission to any well-known high school athlete.
2. Those willing to sign a pledge to refrain from football might be admitted and watched closely to see that they do not throw a few forward passes back of the gymnasium on the sly.
3. Football playing should be limited to those who have never played before.
4. Any unusual proficiency in the game should be viewed with suspicion. The student may have a past. It might develop that he had a secret football career at some obscure prep school. Such cases should be investigated.
7. No sport writers are to be admitted. They have done much to stir up national interest in this dangerous sport.
8. Students may view the games, but there should be no rooting, cheering, or other boisterous conduct.
9. No paid coaches.

Virginia Cavaliers to Appear In Place of Praying Colonels

The University of Kentucky athletic council has decided to omit Centre College from its 1930 football schedule, it was announced by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, chairman of the council, following a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the office of the Athletic Director S. A. Boles.

The University of Virginia will take the place of Centre on the Wildcat 1930 football schedule. The game with the Cavaliers will be played on Stoll field on October 25.

In a statement issued by the council announcing its decision in the matter, one point was emphasized. The discontinuation of the annual game with the Colonels was a move to further Kentucky's efforts in the Southern Conference and not due to any unfriendliness between the two schools. The Centre game broke into the Wildcats' schedule at a bad place, while they are preparing for important games in the conference of which Centre is not a member.

The members of the council present at the meeting were Chairman Funkhouser, John G. Stoll, S. A. Boles, E. A. Bureau, Prof. Enoch Grehan, Gayle Mohney, and Leonard Miller.

10. Athletic activities should be directed by the professor-emeritus of Latin, if one there be, or else by the lady librarian of the college.

Madam Fate was extremely unkind to Given Dye on the day of the Centre game. Given Dye was to have his first and last crack at the Colonels. But Given Dye stumbled when crossing the railroad tracks in Danville as he was getting off the train and struck his knee against the rail. And now Given Dye is at the Good Samaritan hospital with a fractured knee cap and probably will be there for six weeks. (Incidentally, Given Dye is a football player and not an allegorical character.)

Once upon a time Washington and Lee scheduled football games with Kentucky in order to boost their Southern Conference standing with an easy victory. And now when the sons of the "dark and bloody ground" hand them one on the chin, they stay in the gutter for the rest of the season. If you can remember how the Virginians sank last year after a good start and then a defeat at the hands of Kentucky; and how, after meeting the same fate from the Wildcats this year they fall, 26 to 6, before West Virginia, and 39 to 0, before Tennessee, you may realize what a shattered morale will do to a team. We have a sneaking suspicion that the big boys over at Vanderbilt believe in psychology. Now wouldn't it be TERRIBLE if Vanderbilt—Vanderbilt, who has always walloped the 'Cats—should be beaten by Kentucky? Vandy thinks so.

North Carolina beat Georgia Tech, which beat Florida, which beat Georgia, which beat North Carolina.

Unless Georgia beats the Big Green at Columbus tomorrow, Tulane should have easy bowling along to the top of the Southern Conference as the remainder of their schedule is comparatively easy—Auburn, Sewanee, and L. S. U. Tennessee, on the other hand, will have tough sledding with Auburn, Carson-Newman, Vanderbilt, Kentucky, and South Carolina.

Tennessee's massacre of Washington and Lee is made more impressive when you take into consideration that after the regulars piled up 20 points in the first half, the reserves went in and accumulated 19 more.

Illinois has a lineman, Tiny Huddleston, who tips the beam at 250 pounds, but he is an infant as compared with Dick Davis, 310 pounds and Harry Patchefsky, 296, on the Temple eleven. But Arthur Wolff, playing on the Thayer high school aggregation, is 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 380 pounds at the age of 17 years. Karcis, Carnegie's backfield star, is the biggest best football player and weighs 240 pounds.

We bid goodbye to Centre with the same twinge of regret that followed the discarding of our knee britches for long trousers (that was when boys wore knee britches); or with the same regret that came when we left high school for college—it is a necessary step in the evolution to bigger and better things.

COLGATE HAS WANDERLUST
Colgate will travel 5,200 miles during the season, going twice into the mid-west to play members of the Big Ten. On all such trips, the team will take its own drinking water with it, to say nothing of having special training—table menus provided on the dining cars.

CENTRE PRAYERS ARE ALL IN VAIN

Entire Squad Given a Crack At "Praying Colonels" as Husky Wildcats Sweep on To an Easy Victory.

Two ancient warriors met on an old battlefield last Saturday to settle a lifelong grudge, the Kentucky Wildcats and the Centre College Colonels. The Wildcats crept back into their lair with spoils of a 33 to 0 victory, and the weak Colonels aged more with despair. The classic was witnessed by approximately 8,000 enthusiastic supporters of the two teams.

Both teams were nervous at the start of the feud's renewal, but Kentucky settled down early in the second quarter and piled up 33 points with a varied attack. In the final canto, Coach Harry Gamage gave the second and third string Kentucky players a chance to display their wares.

The line plunging of Jack Phipps was the feature of the game. He put Kentucky in position to score on many occasions, and was ever present on defense. The ball totter of Covington, Kelly, Ford, and Richards was not to be laughed at while the entire Kentucky line functioned perfectly as a unit. The running of Nemecek and Grabuck was the feature of the Colonel attack. Shearer placed his punts well and May was uncanny in his passing.

The victory for the Wildcats brought Kentucky a little nearer the level in games won. Since athletic relations were begun between the two schools, the Colonels have gained victory twenty times, two games have been tied, and Kentucky now has a total of thirteen wins. The victory last week was the third consecutive triumph over the Colonels since Coach Gamage took up the gridiron reins.

Big Green Swamps Wesleyan Freshmen

Kittens Continue March To State Title, Winning By Score of 19 to 0.

The University of Kentucky Kittens swamped the Cubs of Wesleyan Wesleyan by a score of 19 to 0, last Friday afternoon at Winchester. The Green avalanche was featured by the brilliant playing of Ellis Johnson and Ray Woolridge.

The Cubs showed a well nigh impregnable defense and the Kittens resorted to an aerial attack with Johnson doing the passing. Captain Johnson made the first marker with a beautiful 40-yard run. He eluded a half-dozen tacklers and then dragged a couple of Cubs across the goal line. The next score was the result of a pass from Johnson to Darby.

As the game neared an end, the Cubs tossed passes with abandon in an effort to score but Bickel broke up this threat when he snagged one for a touchdown. The one shining light for Wesleyan was Ritter, who passed and punted with skill. McDaniels ran the team in a capable manner, but the Cubs were unable to dent the Kitten line. The Wesleyan team never was closer than the 30-yard line, while the Kittens were checked three times near the goal in the first quarter.

Johnson and Woolridge played brilliantly despite injuries. Johnson's face was badly bruised and his leg injured. Woolridge suffered a sprained ankle on the first play but continued to play and made many brilliant dashes for material gains.

GOLF

Earl King Senff, Sigma Nu, putted his way to the finals in the intramural golf tournament this week. John Buskie plays Henry Lewis for the right to meet Senff for the crown. The inclement weather of the past two weeks has greatly hindered the completion of this tournament.

TENNIS

Martin and Kelley stroked their way to the tennis doubles finals by defeating Vaughn and O'Bryant, 6-3, 9-7. The Lusk and Crump-Groerer and Klein match will be played as soon as the weather permits.

The tennis singles tourney has reached the quarter finals in the upper bracket with Steely scheduled to meet Kelley, while Stapleton is to play Carr. Gross will meet DeGaris for the right to represent the lower bracket in the finals.

ROLLER SKATING

The Roller Skating Derby held last Thursday on Euclid avenue was won by the Sigma Nu fraternity, largely through the efforts of Jack Todd, who won three first places, and was on the relay team.

The winners of the various events are: 100-yard dash—Todd, Sigma Nu, first; Jones, Phi Delta Theta, second; Steely, Sigma Nu, third. 200-yard dash—Todd, first; Jones, second; Hughes, third. 400-yard dash—Saunders, Alpha Sigma Phi, first; Hughes, second; Lowry, Alpha Sigma Phi, third. 800-yard dash—Todd, first; Saunders, second; Warren, third.

Relay—Sigma Nu (Todd, Steely, Metcalf, and Senff), first; Alpha Sigma Phi, second.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Fisher, a member of the Chi Omega fraternity, won both the 50 and 100-yard dashes. In these two races, Miss Catherine Smith finished second, and Miss Sarah Wheeler, third.

The fancy skating contest was won by the team of Miss Fisher and William Saunders.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Director Sid Robinson has announced the course over which the cross-country race will be run on November 9. The runners will start in front of the south stand of McLean Stadium, take three laps around the track, go out through the west gate, thence across the campus passing between the Women's Gym and the Education building, past the Administration building to Memorial hall, back across the tennis courts by McVey hall to Rose street, and again onto Stoll field through the west entrance. The runners will take another lap around the track and finish at the starting point. This course is approximately two miles long.

In the time trials held last Friday on the track at the distance of a mile and a half, O'Bryant had the best time, running the six laps in 8:14. This was exceptional time considering the length of the training period for the runners and Mr. Robinson was well-pleased with the prospects for the actual race. The other five men who finished in less than nine minutes were: Baker, 8:29; Maddox, 8:21; Roder, 8:30; Butler and Canneo, 8:40.

THE COLONEL
COMMENTS

Oh, well! Why worry about subsidizing athletes anyway? It's only a matter of time until college athletes are a thing of the past. As the outstanding philosopher at the University expresses it, where will we get our football players when everybody installs frigidaire?

As the old saying goes, "You can't keep a good man down." Evidently the Carson-Newman team feels personally responsible for proving this maxim. After submitting to Kentucky, 58 to 0, the Parsons still had the pleasure of looking forward to Tennessee's thundering herd next week.

While Muary Crutcher and Daddy Boles are freshening the place up a bit, we would like to call their attention to the Men's Gym. A new coat of paint for its rusty complexion would relieve the birdseye panorama from Patt Hall.

It looks mighty like a sophomore year in the big leagues with Alex Yunevich stealing the thunder from "Pest" Welch at Purdue and the diminutive Albie Booth crashing the headlines for Yale.

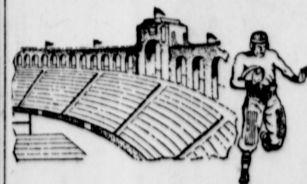

Did you know that Ty Disney, the regular Tennessee fullback, is a Kentucky boy? He is a graduate of Middlesboro high school and made the All-Kentucky team in his senior year.

AND THAT a Lexington boy, "Ducky" Simrall is starring at the University of Michigan. He was the sophomore sensation of the Big Ten last year, leading the Wolverine backfield in the hard-fought, 6 to 6 tie with the Navy. Hailed as a successor to the great Kipke, now Michigan coach, "Ducky" is a wizard at booting the oval.

Well, the Colonel is still at it. Centre did lose to Kentucky and thereby prevented the dope bucket from splashing white-wash all over the old fellow. If you are saving up your pennies to roll down to Alabama, then don't risk your winnings on his selections. Anyhow, here is the schedule for tomorrow and the way the outcome probably won't be.

Mauers is very optimistic in regard to the chances for the S. I. C. championship for the 1929-30 season. However, the prospects for capable recruits from last year's freshman team do not look so good.

The Wildcats will engage in one of the toughest schedules ever attempted by the wearers of the Blue and White. The schools of the state University team of Omaha, Nebraska, will appear here in the first interschool game ever played in Kentucky. This school yearly produces one of the strongest basketball teams in the country and is compared in the basketball world to Notre Dame of the football world. The Creighton quintette makes many intercollegiate trips and plays some of the strongest teams in the country.

Freshman basketball is also underway with seventy-five men working out and more to come in from the football squad. This is probably the largest frosh squad ever to report at the University. This squad is composed of some of the best basketball men graduated from the high schools of the state last year. The floor at the Men's Gym will not be a stranger to all of Coach Potter's hopefuls as many of the boys have been here before to take part in the annual state tournaments.

Practice sessions for the yearlings are being held twice weekly, on Tuesday and Thursday. A new feature of freshman practice this year is that there will be no cutting of the squad until about the first of December. This means that many of the aspirants who are always slow in rounding into form will have a much better chance to show their wares than heretofore. The first cut will not take place until after the football men have reported and stowed a few practice periods away.

Twenty-five additional men are expected to report from the football squad. Among these are John-son, Darby, and Riffe, of Ashland; Bickel, Louisville Male high; Wilder, Corbin; Woolridge, Danville; Kreuter, Newport; and Montgomery. Among the most promising of the candidates now out are Sale, Kavanaugh; Napier, Hazard; Jackson, and Benson, Lexington high; Worthington, St. Louis; and Fishback, Ohio.

The frosh schedule will call for about ten games with other freshmen teams within the state and perhaps one or two outside games. The complete schedule has not been announced yet.

Three new G-E contributions to the conquest of the air

LINDBERGH, flying blind much of the way, hit Ireland "on the nose" as he winged toward Paris. Now, as an aid to air navigation comes the magneto compass, a product of General Electric research, which gives pilots a navigating instrument of extraordinary accuracy. Meanwhile, two other General Electric contributions to aviation have been developed—the electric gasoline gauge and the radio echo altimeter. The ordinary altimeter shows only height above sea level. The radio echo altimeter warns the pilot of his actual distance above ground or water by flashing green, yellow, and red lights on the instrument board.

Every year hundreds of college-trained men and women enter the employment of General Electric. Research, similar to that which developed "eyes" for blind flying, is one of the many fields of endeavor in which they play an important part.

habitat to Lexington, a powerful, smooth-running team. The giant Tiger line, heavier even than the mighty blue forward wall, is composed of veterans who know what they should do and then do it. Experience and aggressiveness have enabled them to open boulevards through the opposition so far this season, while the versatile Carolina backs trampled the goal-line for some 250 points.

A rugged, hard-driving backfield is another of the Tiger assets. And they run as only a Cody-coached team can run; around the flanks, off tackle, and through the center, a sweeping cyclone progresses, while the sky is darkened with a cloud of forward passes. Close-knit interference and deadly blocking are characteristic of the Clemson outfit.

Led by a curly-headed halfback, "Goat" McMillan, whose accurate eye and deadly throwing arm is the biggest factor in the threatening Tiger aerial offense, the backfield is one of the strongest in the country. Strategic Captain Padgett calling signals, with the fleet Johnny Justus at half, and a plunging mammoth, Bob McCarley, at full, complete this notable quartette of ball-toters.

The Kentucky camp presents a different picture; one of crippled stars. Trampling with ease over Centre last week, the Wildcats nevertheless suffered from the contact. Amid the tattered remnants of four victorious encounters, the Blue warriors rest, recuperating from the scars of battle.

Captain Will Ed Covington is definitely out of the game, and possibly for the rest of the season, as the result of an injury to his side, received in the Centre game. Dick Richards, a contribution from Colorado, himself recovering from an injury, is slated to start in Covy's place.

Andrews and Tom Phipps, two other casualties of the fray at Danville, will watch the game from the sidelines while Mother Nature and Trainer Mann nurse their hurts back to health. Cavana and Baughman are fighting it out to replace Andrews at end, while Jack Phipps relieves his brother at fullback. The younger Phipps is also suffering from slight injury to his hand, and may give way to Lois Toth against the Tigers.

Leginska Appears Before Lexington Audience Nov. 7

Ethel Leginska, the Paderewski of women pianists, will come again to Lexington Thursday evening, November 7, at 8:15 o'clock, when she will appear at Woodland auditorium in the dual role of conductor and soloist with her Boston Women's Symphony orchestra of 55 women. The Boston Women's Symphony orchestra is in the fourth year of its organization and has come to be recognized as one of the leading major orchestras of the world. Lexington music lovers can rest assured that the appearance will be well worth attending.

The Chicago Evening Post has said of Mme. Leginska: "She can always be counted on to put life into everything she takes in hand. She made the old Mendelssohn score glitter. She is a live wire." The Milwaukee Sentinel has called her "One of the most dynamic conductors in the world."

Season tickets for the concert series may be secured by consulting Miss Goff at the Lexington College of Music. Such tickets will be good for six numbers as follows:

Meeting of Kentucky Conference of Social Work.

The Kentucky Conference of Social Work will close its sessions in Louisville today with a dinner conference. The first meeting was held at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, at the Brown hotel in Louisville. A better understanding of the social service problems of Kentucky is expected to be the outcome of this conference.

Dr. Paul Boynton of the psychology department of the University, acted as chairman of this morning's session. Mayor William B. Harrison delivered the address of welcome, followed by the presidential address by William N. Beehler, Lexington, executive secretary of the Lexington Family Welfare Society and associate professor in the department of sociology at the University.

The first day of the conference was "State Institution Day," with the general purpose to get the people to realize the importance of organized charities in the counties. At the first night session Governor Flen D. Sampson spoke on "A Challenge to Kentucky." The Honorable John P. Haswell, chairman of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, also spoke, his topic being "A Proposal to Kentucky."

Today's theme is "Children," dealing with "Mother's Aid," which will be brought before the next Legislature. They also will discuss the disposal of county charity funds, whether by the magistrates, nurses, or social workers.

All meetings were open to the public and discussions were held at the end of each session. Sociology students of the University were excused from classes to attend the Conference. The sociology department chartered a bus to take the students to Louisville.
